What's for Snack?

Ingredients:

- *1 slice of red bell pepper
- *1 slice of orange bell pepper
- *1 slice of yellow bell pepper
- *1 slice of green bell pepper
- *2 cauliflower florets
- *1 container for dressing
- *yellow food coloring (optional)

Directions:

1. Take your slices of bell pepper and arrange them in a rainbow pattern on your plate—red, orange, yellow and then green.
2. Grab your 2 cauliflower florets and place them on either side of your pepper rainbow.
3. In the middle of the rainbow, I placed a small silicone cup of ranch dressing for dipping. If you want to make your dressing a “pot of gold,” you can add a little yellow food coloring to the dressing.

So simple, yet so beautiful. Serve this yummy snack to your kids and you'll surely see them smile!

Cat in the Hat—Balancing Act

How to play:

1) Pick six objects from the book (cup, hat, fish, ship, ball, book) and five body parts (hand, foot, chin, head, elbows, legs) and put the names of the objects onto two photo-cubes (or place pieces of paper with items written on them into a “hat” to draw)

2) Take turns being the balancer.

3) Roll dice (or draw from hat) and help place correct object on correct body part.

4) Keep doing this until the balancer can no longer balance any longer.

FYI

Dr. Seuss wrote Green Eggs & Ham on a dare. His publisher bet that he couldn't write a book using only 50 different words. In an effort to make learning to read more exciting for kids, he wrote a silly tale about a picky eater (a common complaint of many parents) and a fellow who won't take “No” for an answer.
